

THE MONTCLAIR BIRD CLUB

YOUR WEEKLY BIRD 37

May 19, 2024

by Sandy Sorkin

Yellow-rumped Warblers Part 2

The forsythia flowers are no longer on display until next year, but we are not at a loss for yellow. At least through May yellow-rumped warblers will be foraging in New Jersey. They remain plentiful in New Jersey, except for the summer months, as they migrate to Canada to breed and then return to almost everywhere in North and Central America.

The name mentions a single yellow patch on the bird's rump, but the rest of the bird offers even more brilliant color. It is always a pleasure to see these brilliantly colored birds in our garden.

If you would like to see your photographs highlighted here, send one or two pictures with a short paragraph to Sandy Sorkin & Rick Wright at MontclairBirdClub100@gmail.com.

Southwest Wings

